WELCOME TO THE WOLF ADVENTURE TRAIL

On the Wolf Adventure Trail, you will explore the outdoors, make new friends, play games, and do things that only Cub Scouts do. As you are having fun, you will complete a group of activities called Adventures. After completing each Adventure, you will be given a metal belt loop that slides onto your Cub Scout belt. To earn the Wolf badge of rank, you will need to complete all six required Adventures and at least two elective Adventures. You may earn as many elective Adventures as you like. When you complete the second grade, you will begin your Bear Adventure Trail.

CUB SCOUT PARENT GUIDE

(This section is for your parent or legal guardian.)

Your child will get the most out of their Cub Scout experience when you take an active part. Cub Scouting is led by volunteer parents, just like you. They come together to plan Cub Scout activities, meetings, and special events. For many parents, this is a great way to get to know the other families in their community. Chances are, you have a lot in common. Your child may attend the same school and some children may even have the same teachers. You may shop at the same grocery store, play at the same park, or may even live within walking distance from each other.

GETTING STARTED AS A CUB SCOUT PARENT

1. Find out who your contact person is for Cub Scouting. The contact person may have a specific title like den leader or Cubmaster, or they just may be an active parent. This is the person whom you can contact to ask questions as you are getting started.
2. Confirm the details of the den meetings, pack meetings, and other activities. Add them to your personal and family calendars.
3. Plug into the communication channel that your pack and your den use. Each Cub Scout pack has a different way they communicate with parents; some have multiple ways. It may be as simple as a text message group, a communications app, or a social media page. Make sure that the contact information you give to the Cub Scout pack is accurate.

- 4. Download the free Scouting app from the Apple App Store® and Google Play™ store. The Scouting app gives parents an easy way to stay connected with their Cub Scout's progress and official records.
- 5. Read the remainder of this chapter, Cub Scout Parent Guide, and the Essential Cub Scout Family Activities chapter.

WHAT IS CUB SCOUTING?

Cub Scouting is the youth program of the Boy Scouts of America® (BSA) for kindergarten through fifth grade. The mission of the program is to prepare young people to make ethical and moral choices over their lifetimes by instilling in them the values of the Scout Oath and the Scout Law. This is accomplished through the aims and methods of Scouting — what we want to teach and how we teach.

The four aims are: character development, leadership, citizenship, and personal fitness.

The seven methods of Cub Scouts are: living the ideals, belonging to a den, advancement, family involvement, activities, serving the neighborhood, and the uniform.

Your child wanted to join and will stay in Cub Scouting because it is fun. Cub Scouting has been described as “a game with a purpose.” The activities in Cub Scouting serve a purpose deeper than just having fun. Activities are designed to meet the mission of the BSA.

HOW CUB SCOUTING IS ORGANIZED

Later in this book, we describe how Cub Scouting is organized in a way your Wolf Cub Scout can best understand. As an adult, we want you to have a deeper understanding of the BSA.

Think of the BSA as an upside-down pyramid. At the base of the pyramid — the smallest part — is the national organization of the BSA. It is designed to support the sections above it. The National Council of the BSA is led by a volunteer group called the National Executive Committee along with the chief executive officer, or the Chief Scout Executive. Additional volunteers and staff members make up the National Council, which includes departments such as Scout shops, program development, information technology, and safety.

The next part of the pyramid is your local council, a geographic territory that the National Council has granted permission to deliver Scouting programs within that area. The local council is also led by a volunteer group called the council executive committee, along with a chief executive officer called the Scout executive.

On the left sleeve of the Cub Scout uniform is a patch that identifies your local council.

Some councils create geographic areas called districts. Districts are designed to provide service and support to local Scouting programs in the designated area. A district committee made up of volunteers does this work and is often supported by a staff member called a district executive.

At the top of the pyramid — the largest part — are the local Scouting programs. Local councils partner with community organizations, called chartered organizations, to deliver Scouting programs. Chartered organizations have an annual agreement with the local council to sponsor one or more Scouting programs.

If a chartered organization wants to have a Cub Scout program, it organizes what is called a Cub Scout pack. Packs are organized to best serve the families to whom the chartered organization is looking to deliver the program. Often, this is a school, neighborhood, or community. Your Cub Scout pack is identified with a number. Put your pack number on the left sleeve of your Cub Scout uniform under the council patch.

The chartered organization representative is just that, the person designated to represent the organization that has an agreement with the local council to deliver the Scouting program. The chartered organization approves all those who volunteer to be leaders in the pack, usually parents of Cub Scouts. Each pack has a pack committee made up of leaders and parents led by the pack committee chair. This volunteer, usually a parent, organizes the adults to plan and deliver the Cub Scouting program.

The Cubmaster is a volunteer, usually a parent, who coordinates the delivery of the program to the youth of all ages at the pack level, with the help of assistant Cubmaster(s) and other parents.

A Cub Scout pack is made up of small groups called dens. How dens are formed is up to the pack. Packs ultimately form dens in a way that best serves the families in the pack. Ideally, a den has about eight Cub Scouts who are all in the same grade and working on the same rank together. Dens can also be formed with different grades. A Cub Scout pack with three second graders (Wolves) and two third graders (Bears) may form a multi-rank den with those five Cub Scouts. Regardless of how dens are formed, Cub Scouts earn Adventures and the badge of rank only for their grade level.

The den is led by a volunteer den leader and assistant den leader, usually a parent. The den leader coordinates meetings and activities centered around Cub Scout Adventures. Adventures are made up of a group of activities. When the required activities for each Adventure are completed, the Cub Scout receives an Adventure loop that slides onto their Cub Scout belt as recognition for completing an Adventure.

Advancement refers to the progress your Cub Scout is making toward their badge of rank. Cub Scouts work only on the badge of rank associated with their grade level. For second grade, this is the Wolf badge of rank. Your Cub Scout earns their Wolf badge of rank by completing the six required Adventures and two elective Adventures. When they complete a badge of rank, they may not work on the next badge of rank until they have completed the grade level associated with that badge of rank. Cub Scouts may not work on a badge of rank for an earlier grade level.

ESSENTIAL CUB SCOUT FAMILY ACTIVITIES

The Cub Scout program is designed for you to share adventures together with your child. Be active, have fun, and enjoy the moments you have together. As an adult, you will also make new friends and have opportunities to try new things.

Cub Scouting is a holistic program; the positive impact works best when incorporated into your home. One way to do this is to be familiar with the Scout Oath and the Scout Law and look for ways to recognize your Cub Scout when they are following these values.

ADVENTURE REQUIREMENTS TO DO AT HOME

Most Adventure requirements will be completed with your den or pack. The following requirements are designed to be done at home. Let your den leader know when you have completed them with your Cub Scout.

BOBCAT

Requirement 7 - At home, with your parent or legal guardian, do the activities in the booklet "How to Protect Your Children From Child Abuse: A Parent's Guide."

SAFETY IN NUMBERS

Your den leader may ask that you complete all requirements for this Adventure at home. See the requirements on page 79.

FOOTSTEPS

Your den leader may ask that you complete all requirements for this Adventure at home. See the requirements on page 85.

THE NORTH AMERICAN WOLF

Humans and wolves have a special relationship. Did you know that all dogs came from a type of wolf? Over thousands of years, early humans and wolves formed a symbiotic (sym-bi-ot-ic) relationship in which both humans and wolves benefited from each other.

Humans provided these wolves with food and shelter, and the wolves provided humans with protection and friendship. Over time, these wolves became less wild and eventually so different that we stopped calling them wolves and started calling them dogs.

Not all wolves became dogs. Today the North American wolf is one such wolf. Unlike the common dog, the North American wolf is a wild animal. The coyote and jackal are examples of wild animals that are also part of the wolf family.

Wolves stick together as a family, and a group of several wolf families is called a pack. They hunt together, they live together, and they even have a leader that is called the "alpha." They may live in a den, which can be a cave, a shallow hole they dig, or a fallen tree that provides shelter.

12 Wolf

The stories in The Jungle Book were written by Rudyard Kipling and have been made into several movies. One character in The Jungle Book is a wolf named Akela (Ah-KAY-la). Akela finds a lost child named Mowgli (MO-glee) and raises the child like a wolf. Baloo the bear helps teach Mowgli the laws of the jungle so he can live among the animals.

Cub Scouts in the United States used the names of these characters as a fun way to describe the Cub Scouting program. To this day, you may hear words like Akela, Baloo, den, and pack. That is our way of remembering how Cub Scouting began.

YOUR CUB SCOUT PACK

You and your family are part of a Cub Scout pack. A pack is made up of several families that are part of Cub Scouting in your community. A pack includes Cub Scouts who are in kindergarten through fifth grade. The pack will get together for activities, meetings, and outings. The adult leader of the pack is called the Cubmaster. To make Cub Scouting more fun, packs form small groups called dens.

YOUR CUB SCOUT WOLF DEN

Your den is the group in which you make new friends, play games, and earn Adventures as you work toward earning your Wolf badge of rank. Each den is a little different. Most of your Cub Scout fun will be with your den. The adult leader of the den is called the den leader.

YOUR CUB SCOUT ADULT LEADERS

A pack of wolves in the wild looks to the alpha wolf for leadership and guidance — when to work, when to learn, and when to play. In Cub Scouting, we call adults who are leaders Akela.

You will see several adults in Cub Scouting; you will be able to recognize some right away because they are wearing a uniform. Other adults may be part of the pack but do not wear a uniform. As a Cub Scout, always be respectful to adults in your Cub Scout pack.

At no time is any adult, other than your parent or legal guardian, to be alone with you.

YOUR CUB SCOUT WOLF UNIFORM

Wearing your uniform shows everyone that you are a Cub Scout. Think of it as being part of one of the largest teams in America. Wear your uniform to pack meetings, den meetings, and special activities when you are with other Cub Scouts. There are times when you are going to get dirty in Cub Scouts; for those times it's OK to wear a Cub Scout T-shirt.

The uniform includes the blue Cub Scout shirt, blue Cub Scout bottoms (shorts, pants, or skort), the Cub Scout belt, and Cub Scout socks. Each rank has a hat, neckerchief, and neckerchief slide with its own emblem and colors. The Wolf hat and neckerchief are red.

Your Cub Scout belt is specially made so that your Cub Scout Adventure loops can slide onto it.

The pictures below show you where to put badges of rank and patches on your blue Cub Scout shirt. You might receive a patch for attending a special event like a campout or for selling popcorn. These are examples of "temporary insignia" and should be worn centered on the right pocket. Sometimes these patches come with a button loop, so you can hang your patch from your pocket button.

THE WOLF ADVENTURE TRAIL

The Cub Scout activities that you do with your den, pack, and family are called Adventures. Each Adventure has several things you do to earn that Adventure. These are called requirements. You'll have fun completing the requirements with the help of your den, pack, and family.

When you complete a requirement for an Adventure, have your leader, parent or legal guardian confirm that you did your best by signing and dating your handbook like in the sample below.

When you complete an Adventure, you are awarded a special metal belt loop. You slide your Adventure loops onto your belt. At the end of your Wolf year, you can make a cool display for your Wolf Adventure loops out of wooden paint stirrers.

Most of the Adventures you do will be with your den in your den meetings. Your Cub Scout pack may plan some activities that will help you earn an Adventure. You can also complete Adventures at home with your family.

To earn your Wolf badge of rank, you must complete the six required Adventures and at least two elective Adventures. You have 20 elective Adventures to choose from.

If you complete an Adventure or a requirement for an Adventure outside of your den meeting, let your den leader know so they can record it and make sure you are recognized for earning it.
